ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE

Town of Chelmsford, Mass.,

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING FEBRUARY 28, 1895.

LOWELL, MASS.
COURIER-CITIZEN COMPANY, PRINTERS.
1895

Report of School Committee.

The School Committee of the Town of Chelmsford for the year 1894-95, held its first meeting March 24, 1894. Samuel C. Hagerman was chosen Chairman, John H. Redman, Secretary. George F. Snow was re-elected Superintendent of Schools and Book Agent for the Board.

As members of the Committee we have endeavored to discharge our various duties in a faithful manner. We feel that we have been favored in many ways, but especially so in the choice of Superintendent and the corps of teachers who have labored with him during the past year. The present satisfactory condition of our schools is a sufficient proof of their persistent and painstaking work. Such work is eminently creditable, when we note the several serious difficulties with which both teachers and pupils have had to contend.

The first and perhaps the most serious of these has been the crowded condition of the schools at the North Village and the Centre. We are glad, however, to report that steps are being taken toward remedying this difficulty. The Town, at its meeting last March, upon the recommendation of our predecessors, appointed a committee to investigate and report upon this matter. The Chairman of this committee has recently informed us that the members are still giving the matter their careful consideration. In the meantime we have endeavored to afford temporary relief in the matter of ventilation, etc.

A second difficulty has been the lack of co-operation on the part of parents. We will not call it lack of interest, for we do not believe it to be such; but rather the lack of an expression of interest. If the people of Chelmsford expect ideal schools, it is not enough that they appropriate generously for their support. They must visit the schools. Therefore while we heartily thank those who have shown their interest by their visits during the past year, we would remind those who may be displeased with the school work, that they have their part to take in making that work a success.

Finally, a serious difficulty has presented itself in the shape of sickness among the scholars. Especially has this been the case at the Centre, where, owing to several cases of scarlet fever, we found it necessary to close the schools during a week in February.

In connection with this matter we feel that it will not be amiss to call attention to certain laws regarding contagious diseases, etc. : —

Every person having under his control a child between the ages of eight and fourteen years, shall annually cause such child to attend some public day school in the city or town in which he resides, and such attendance shall continue for at least thirty weeks of the school year, if the schools are kept open that length of time, with an allowance of two weeks' time for absences not excused by the Superintendent of Schools or the School Committee, and for every neglect of such duty the person offending shall, upon complaint of a School Committee, or any Truant Officer, forfeit to the use of the public schools of such city or town, a sum not exceeding twenty dollars; but if such child has attended, for a like period of time, a private day school, approved by the School Committee of such city or town, or if such child has been otherwise instructed for a like period of time in the branches of learning required by law to be taught in the public schools, or if his physical or mental condition is such as to render such attendance inexpedient or impracticable, such penalty shall not be incurred.

The School Committee shall not allow a child who has not been duly vaccinated, to be admitted to or connected with the public schools.

Chapter 198 of the Acts of 1885 provides that the School Committee shall not allow any pupil to attend the public schools while any member of the household to which such pupil belongs, is sick of small-pox, diphtheria, or scarlet fever, or during a period of two weeks after the death, recovery, or removal of such sick person; and any pupil coming from such household shall be required to present to the teacher of the school the pupil desires to attend, a certificate from the attending physician or Board of Health, of the facts necessary to entitle him to admission, in accordance with the above regulation.

No child under thirteen years of age shall be employed at any time in any factory, workshop, or mercantile establishment. No such child shall be employed in any indoor work, performed for wages or other compensation, to whomsoever payable, during the hours when the public schools of the city or town in which he resides, are in session, or shall be employed in any manner during such hours, unless during the year next preceding such employment he has attended school for at least twenty weeks, as required by law.

No child under fourteen years of age shall be employed in any manner before the hour of six o'clock in the morning or after the hour of seven o'clock in the evening. No such child shall be employed in any factory, workshop, or mercantile establishment, except during the vacation of the public schools in the city or town where he resides, unless the person or corporation employing him procures and keeps on file a certificate and employment ticket for such child as prescribed by Section 4 of this act, and no such child shall be employed in any indoor work, performed for wages or other compensation, to whomsoever payable, during the hours when the public schools of such city or town are in session, unless as aforesaid, or shall be employed in any manner during such hours unless during the year next preceding such employment he has attended school for at least twenty weeks, as required by law; and such employment shall not continue in any case beyond the time when such certificate expires. The Chief of the District Police, with the approval of the Governor, shall have authority to designate any kind or kinds of employment in factories, workshops, or mercantile establishments as injurious to the health of children under fourteen years of age employed therein, and after one week's written notice from the said chief to the employer or his superintendent, overseer or other agent of such designation, no child shall be employed in any such kind or kinds of employment in any factory, workshop, or mercantile establishment.

No child under sixteen years of age shall be employed in any factory, workshop, or mercantile establishment unless the person or corporation employing him procures and keeps on file the certificate required in the case of such child, and also keeps on file a full and complete list of such children employed therein.

Every parent or guardian of a child under fourteen years of age who permits any employment of such a child contrary to the provisions of this act, and every owner, superintendent, or overseer of any factory, workshop, or mercantile establishment who employs or permits to be employed therein any child contrary to the provisions of this act, and any other person who employs any child contrary to the provisions of this act shall, for every such offence, forfeit not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars for the use of the public schools of the city or town. Every parent, guardian, or person authorized to sign the certificate prescribed by Section 4 of this act, who certifies to any materially false statement therein, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

A failure to produce to a Truant Officer or Inspector of Factories the certificate required by the provisions of this act shall be prima facie evidence of the illegal employment of the child whose certificate is not produced.

Every owner, superintendent, or overseer in any such establishment, who employs, or permits to be employed therein, a child under fourteen years of age who cannot read and write, while the public schools in the city or town where such child lives are in session, and every parent or guardian who permits such employment, shall, for every such offence, forfeit not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars for the use of the public schools of such city or town.

Whoever wilfully and maliciously or wantonly and without cause destroys, defaces, mars, or injures a school-house, church, or other building erected or used for purposes of education or religious instruction, or for the general diffusion of knowledge, or an outbuilding, fence, well, or appurtenance of such school-house, church, or other building, or furniture, apparatus, or other property belonging to, or connected with such school-house, church, or other buildings, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year.

School Committee.

Superintendent's Report.

To the Chairman and Gentlemen of the School Committee:

My annual report as Superintendent of Schools is hereby submitted for your consideration.

In submitting this report I perform one of my last official acts in connection with this office, the duties of which I assumed eight years ago.

It has devolved upon me through your aid and co-operation to make such changes in the schools, both in management and instruction, as seemed likely to improve them.

I trust that the administration has proven of sufficient merit as to recommend it to your approval, and the approval of the public whom you represent.

Allow me to express the hope that the future policy of your Board may be as liberal and progressive as it has been during my connection with your honorable body, and that my successor may find in you that aid and appreciation that has made possible the accomplishment of my plans and wishes in regard to the schools. I desire to express my thanks to the teachers for the cheerful spirit which has characterized their work, and in which they have co-operated with me in carrying forward the suggestions which I have made to them from time to time. This spirit has been not an unimportant factor in making this the most pleasant year of my work with you.

My thanks are due the citizens and parents for their expressions of confidence in the public schools and their outspoken words in their behalf. I bespeak for them the continued and increased interest of all. What, tell me, has been bequeathed to us by our forefathers more excellent, in honor and in value, than our system of public schools? What better treasure than intellectual and moral worth can we either possess ourselves or bestow on the children of our affections? Our Town has, I know, held for many years an honorable standing, as compared with towns around her, as regards expenditures for maintaining these schools. Long may she be honorable thus; and instead of tiring in the good work, let her rise to even a more liberal and higher position.

PARENTAL INFLUENCE.

Never was parental influence more needed by the teacher than now. Children come home with complaints that the teacher has unjustly punished them or given them too long a lesson.

Now just as soon as the parent sees there is difficulty between the teacher and his children, he ought at once to look into the matter; for it is very indiscreet to decide on the testimony of an angry child, that the teacher is wrong and thus encourage the child in insubordination.

The teacher in all probability is right, and needs your support. Go kindly, then, and see the teacher, for, in nine cases in ten, if not ninety-nine in a hundred, the teacher is right. Examine into the matter and you will find that your child was wrong and needed correction. It is miserably mean to go about the neighborhood and say the teacher is "partial," or "has no judgment," or "hates your child," or "my child is not the worst in school," or "that somebody deserved punishment more."

Why not squarely put the question, is my child wrong? If, upon inquiry of the teacher, you find the child was, then stand by the teacher and sustain her to the end. The good of the school and the good of the community require it. Should the teacher be in the wrong, go to her kindly and tell her so, and she will be happy to correct any mistake she may have made.

Therefore, stand by the teacher and sustain her.

DISCIPLINE.

The general moral effort and influence of the schools have been good in kind and degree, notwithstanding the ever-present and demoralizing influence of indecent and vicious manifestations of character by some pupils. From year to year I have endeavored, directly and indirectly, to inculcate among the pupils habits as well as forms of respect toward one another, toward teachers, toward school requirements, and toward those with whom they may be brought in contact in the great outside world: habits of punctuality, diligence, neatness, trustworthiness, purity of action, in word and deed, care and proper use of property, fidelity to friends and country.

Here is found the power of a teacher's personality in creating a high moral tone in and about the school, which shall conduce rather to character building than to mere mental training.

THE SCHOOL WORK.

The year has been one of quiet progress. The work is evolutionary, rather than revolucinary. On the part of the teachers there seems to be a general desire for the best, a willingness to work, a loyalty to the schools. Our schools seem to be exceptionally free from friction, irritation, and avoidable vexations. It is well, too, for there never can exist a thoroughly good school where discontent and discord prevail, or where the spirit of concord dwells not.

The child certainly takes on the character of his environments and is fashioned into the likeness of those in closest contact with him.

Therefore, we should seek most for the spirit of the school and base our conclusion upon this.

I believe an ambitious spirit, a generous spirit, a hopeful and ennobling spirit — in a word, the true spirit, is living and growing in our schools.

May this continue! Aid and gratitude to the teachers who are fostering it. Strict attention was given at the closing of each term to ascertain the rate of each scholar's advancement, and I am pleased to announce that a good degree of progress has been made by nearly all the pupils during the year.

SCHOOLS AND TEACHERS.

Of our fifteen schools ten have retained the same teachers throughout the year and eight for a longer period.

These veteran teachers have done superior work. Those who have come to us during the year have brought a degree of scholarship, an earnestness of purpose, an elevation of character, and, in most cases, an ability and energy in management, that have won the respect of the school and community and insured a gratifying degree of success.

MIXED SCHOOLS.

The work prescribed for these schools and the manner of doing it, have been carried out through the year with much uniformity and with generally satisfactory results. The prevalence of contagious disease injuriously affected the attendance upon some of these schools. Yet in addition to absences caused by sickness, dread of contagion, or some imperative necessity, how many result from an inconsiderate indulgence of childish notions or parental ease or profit. When the child, grown to man's estate, sees the worth of the precious time thus lost, he will not hold his parents guiltless. Absence for a day, or even a single half-day, is a serious injury to the pupil. Each day's work completed is a sure foundation for the next day's course of discipline and instruction. But the lessons of the day being lost, some of the next are generally unprepared, for the old excuse is ever ready: "I was absent and don't know the lesson."

How difficult it is for instructors to excite and sustain the interest of their pupils, how hard a task for a pupil, unless present at every recitation, to surmount each new obstacle and firmly grasp each new principle, no one but a practical teacher can fully appreciate. Those absent days produce habits of neglect, and failures occur often.

The absentee loses his interest, if he ever had any, in his studies, hangs like a dead weight on the class, and finally drops into a lower division, or out of school entirely. The teachers deserve the highest praise for their unwearied pains to keep tardy and absent marks from their school registers. Those who have interested the parents in this matter of regular attendance have accomplished the most, for, when a teacher manifests a personal interest in a pupil, the parent is pleased and the child will generally be punctual at school.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

As a whole the Primary Schools are in better condition than they were a year ago, and their work is a testimonial to what can be accomplished when the same faithful and conscientious teachers are long continued in their work. If we wish to have pure water in a river, we must look to the purity of the springs at its source; if the springs are pure, the whole river will be pure. So in a system of education we must look to the Primary Schools first. With these working in the right direction, in the course of time the whole system must be benefited. The task of the Primary School teacher is, in my opinion, more difficult and gathers around itself more discouragements than that of any other teacher engaged in our common school system. Within eight, or at the most nine, years these little ones ought to be brought to the door of the High School, well qualified to run the race which will there open before them.

How important that they be started correctly on this long and wearisome journey! How essential that their impressions at the outset be cheerful, that their ideas be true and noble, and that their love of school be planted deeply within them!

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

The work of the year has been progressive and satisfactory. In the Intermediate Schools the children by their keen and quick perceptions gain a fair knowledge of the chief elements of arithmetic, geography, history and nature study, and in the years that follow this knowledge is extended more readily and satisfactorily than by spending so much time exclusively upon the few subjects that formed the staple of the school programme of ten years ago. To the children who are obliged to leave school while in the lower grades, the training in these studies is an advantage, which a postponement of them to the higher grades deprives them of.

Again, and this is the chief advantage, if rightly taught, children will acquire a taste for these subjects, which will lead to formation of habits of reading and study when school days are over. Especial effort has been made in this grade to improve the writing. The results of the effort are now visible and I am able to report great improvement.

The writing in the schools should be uniformly good; and once we reach the standard we are striving for, it can be easily maintained.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

The instruction in the Grammar Schools has steadily improved during the year, and the results have been, in most cases, satisfactory. I have endeavored to make prominent in all the schools, and especially in these, practical language work. In addition to the regular exercises in dictation, letter writing, and composition, I have urged upon the teachers the necessity of giving especial attention to such exercises as would lead to correct and fluent expression on the part of the pupils. The ability to express one's thoughts on paper gracefully is an accomplishment greatly to be desired; but the ability to express one's thoughts orally and readily is more than an accomplishment: it is a necessity.

To be able to do this grammatically is well worth any effort that may be required. Practice, constant, persistent practice, alone will do it. Good work in arithmetic has been accomplished in this grade. This is sometimes called a bread-and-butter science, and has ever appealed with great force to all classes. If a large proportion of what is offered in the written arithmetic should be treated as mental problems, all manual operations being omitted, far more discipline and power would be the outcome. Mental arithmetic leads a pupil to read a problem intelligently, to see conditions readily, to think a correct conclusion, and express the same to others promptly and accurately — far more than can result from much of the figure work of to-day.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

The patient, quiet and progressive administration of the High Schools is making itself felt. The schools have continued to improve, both in the character of the work and in the spirit and conduct of the pupils.

The subjects of study are essentially the same as for the last few years, but the ways of dealing with these subjects are coming more and more into harmony with the laws of physical, mental and moral growth.

The graduating exercises of the High Schools occurred at the close of the spring term, in the presence of audiences limited only by the capacity of the local Town Halls. The platforms were tastefully adorned with floral and other decorations. The well-delivered essays were of unusual excellence, presenting a pleasing variety of subject and thought in an easy and graceful manner.

THE NATURAL SCIENCES.

I have learned to believe that children should be put, in their early years, to the study of nature. I did not think so once, but now I do. I have seen a school of intermediate grade, under a competent teacher, studying physics, botany, physiology, and other natural sciences with great enthusiasm and complete success. The work was done without a text-book. The instruction was given orally by conversation, charts, pictures, real objects, and experiments. The children were taught to analyze and draw flowers and plants, to observe and study animal life, and make experiments. The children had no time for mischief, and were very happy in their work. The school governed itself, and habits of careful and constant observation were formed. Of course, the higher ranges of these studies will be reserved for advanced grades and schools. But if a love for this work and proper habits of observation and reflection are formed in the lower schools they will ensure success in the upper.

I am confident that the proper way to enrich the studies of Grammar and High Schools is to lay the foundation for it in the lower grades. Let us throw out all along the line the rubbish and put in what is practical and disciplinary.

These are the things which interest children and prevent waste. Uninterested schools are noisy schools, but interested schools govern themselves. By saving waste, we shall save our children. I recommend the introduction of nature studies in the lower grades.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, I would remind you, gentlemen, and, through you, the citizens of the Town, that the personal, hearty co-operation and sympathy of all, with both teachers and pupils, are essential to the success of our school system. The most perfect of systems, and most learned of teachers, will not alone make satisfactory schools. A school can not be made to run like a piece of mechanism and perfectly accomplish its work. It has a certain personality, whose attributes must be considered. Without enthusiasm on the part of teachers and pupils, school work becomes drudgery and heartless, servile toil. The machinery of the system may run smoothly, but the result will be boys and girls anxious to escape from the servitude of school rather than become educated men and women. What the schools most need now is an enthusiasm that will render the work of pupils and teachers less mechanical and formal, more hearty and earnest. For the inspiration of this enthusiasm, we are dependent almost entirely upon the encouragement and sympathy received from parents and citizens, and this encouragement and sympathy teachers and pupils have, equally, a right to claim at their hands.

I take this opportunity to express my gratitude for the hearty co-operation that has been extended to me by all the members of the teaching staff, and take pleasure in acknowledging their willingness and industry in the performance of the duties of their position.

The harmony and good fellowship that has prevailed throughout has rendered my work easier and pleasanter.

I wish, also, to thank the members of the Board for the assistance given me in the discharge of my duties as Superintendent. My relations with school official, teacher, child, and parent, were never more congenial.

I wish to leave this record of my gratitude for all favors. Wishing for the schools of Chelmsford the highest attainments and the richest success.

Respectfully submitted.

Superintendent of Public Schools.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRUSTEES OF THE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY

OF THE

TOWN OF CHELMSFORD, MASS.,

FOR THE

Year Ending February 28, 1895.

Report.

The Board of Trustees of the Free Public Library respectfully submits the following report concerning the second year's administration of the Library :

After organizing by the selection of Mr. H. S. Perham as Chairman, and Mrs. H. M. Bartlett as Secretary, the first duty of the Board was to secure the service of a competent person as Librarian, in place of Miss Nettie M. Stevens, who had resigned. Rev. H. A. Cornell was induced to accept the position, and has served faithfully during the entire year, giving many hours' extra labor to the promotion of the Library's interests, and securing some valuable donations. With the aid of his son, Theodore, the service to patrons has been much expedited, greatly relieving the discomfort and inconvenience of the narrow quarters to which the Library has been confined. It has been impossible to provide any waiting-room for the patrons save the entry of the Town Hall, and as this could not be heated during the cold season, there was much exposure and discomfort, which seemed inevitable, but which has been patiently endured in hope of better things to come. These inconveniences, which were spoken of at length in our former report, have been felt even more during the past year than during the previous one, on account of the longer season during which the Library has been open, and on account of the larger number of persons using it. There is, however, we are happy to say, a prospect of early and permanent relief.

The Library has been open for public use for eleven months of the past year, 96 periods of two hours each, viz. : on Wednesdays from 3 to 5 o'clock, and on Saturdays from 6 to 8 o'clock P. M. The smallest delivery of books at any one time of opening was 36 on June 27, and the largest was 122 on Jan. 2. There is no basis for a comparison of the circulation of this year with previous ones, since the Library was open for but a part of the first year of its existence. Yet such figures as can be given show a gratifying increase of patronage. The number of volumes taken out during the last year of the old Social Library was reported as 1,910; the number during the first year as a Free Library, open for about five months, was 2,647; the number from March 22, 1894, to Feb. 20, 1895, eleven months, has been 7,342. The first two months of the present year, March to May, show a circulation of 1,374; the last two months, December to February, a circulation of 1,512. The number of persons using the Library this year was 408, against 269 last year. Such an increase amply demonstrates the wisdom of the Town's action in establishing the Library on the basis of a free public, rather than a subscription, library. May we not believe that the public benefit from the circulation of a high class of literature, not simply in the way of amusement, but as well in the increase of intelligence and refinement, has increased in like proportion? An encouraging index of the gratification of such hopes is to be found in the large use of the Library by pupils of the Grammar and High schools, to a considerable extent under the advice and direction of the teachers.

The patronage has come most largely, as would naturally be expected, from the population of the Centre Village and its vicinity. The Trustees have not as yet felt justified in expending any considerable portion of the funds for the transportation of books to other parts of the Town. The service has been performed for the people of South Chelmsford, by Mr. A. Heady Park, one of the members of this Board, for a very small compensation, exchanging the books once in two weeks. The hearty thanks of the Trustees are due and are hereby given to Mrs. N. B. Lapham of South Chelmsford for her kindness in allowing her house to be used without compensation as the distributing and collecting agency for the books circulated in that community. There has also been a fair share of circulation in the East Chelmsford neighborhood, the patrons coming individually. The remainder of the Town has made almost no use of this Library, the people of the North and West Villages being much more conveniently served by the North Chelmsford Library Association, whose excellent collection of books has been made free to all inhabitants of the Town for the past year by an appropriation for its support granted by the Town at its last annual meeting.

Donations have been received during the year as follows: Miss E. Walton, 2 vols., State of Massachusetts, 13; South Chelmsford Library, 4; Geo. A. Parkhurst, 1; New York World, 1; United States Bureau of Education, 6; Prentiss Webster, Esq., 1;

Civil Service Commission, 1; J. Adams Bartlett, 1; Rev. H. A. Cornell, 4; Smithsonian Institute, 3 vols. and a large number of pamphlets; Dr. S. A. Green, 2 vols. and 1 document; Miss Sarah L. Putnam, 1 vol. and 12 magazines; Miss C. A. Stanley, 13 magazines; Hatch Experiment Station, 15 pamphlets. These have been duly acknowledged by the Trustees, with thanks in behalf of the Town.

There have been added by purchase 168 volumes.

The Trustees can not close this report without expressing their great pleasure in anticipation of the occupancy of the new and very handsome and commodious Library building now nearly completed in this village through the generosity and public spirit of our former townsman, Mr. Amos F. Adams of Boston — Messrs. J. A. Bartlett and C. E. A. Bartlett also having greatly aided in securing for the building a fine location, the former by the donation of a valuable piece of land, and the latter by grading the land at considerable expense. Mr. Thomas M. Adams of South Chelmsford has also placed in the hands of the Trustees a donation of $500 for the purchase of books.

We are expecting a great increase in the public use of the Library through the increased convenience and attractiveness thus to be supplied. We are planning for considerably longer hours of opening and for an increase of facilities for service. The Reading Room, a feature we have not hitherto possessed, will no doubt be appreciated by the general public as well as by ourselves as a most valuable and almost indispensable adjunct to the collection of books which forms the Library.

We announce with regret that Miss Louisa A. Allen, after having served acceptably for two years as a member of this Board, has tendered her resignation.

The extraordinary expenses of removing and re-arranging the present materials of the Library, of preparing for circulation the large additions already donated, and for the care and maintenance of the building, will call for an additional appropriation for the coming year, as follows:

We recommend, if the Library be maintained under the present conditions, an appropriation of $250 for the coming year; and if the new building be accepted and the Library removed thereto an additional appropriation, as above, of $350, or $600 in all.
